

PMHA Legislative Review

April 2018

Harrisburg Happenings Compliments of Milliron & Goodman:

Pennsylvania Democratic Governor Tom Wolf presented his 2018-2019 state budget to the Republican-led General Assembly on February 6. Lawmakers are now in the midst of the state's annual cycle of budget hearings. Over the course of three weeks, the heads of state departments and agencies are appearing before the state Senate and House Appropriations Committees to defend Governor Wolf's budget proposal. After the hearings are over, it will be up to lawmakers to determine what will be in the final budget plan that moves through the legislative process. The new budget year starts July 1.

The state House returns to session on Monday, April 9 and the state Senate returns on Monday, April 16.

Here's a look back at the noteworthy events for the past month.

Budget

Democratic Governor Tom Wolf's election-year budget plan will renew battles with the Republican-controlled Legislature over imposing a tax on Marcellus Shale natural gas and increasing the minimum wage. Wolf, who is seeking re-election to a second term this year, wants to spend about $33 billion in the 2018-19 fiscal year, about a $1 billion, or 3.1 percent increase. He'd steer more toward schools, with an emphasis on workforce development. His budget plan would rely on about $250 million from a new Marcellus Shale tax — Wolf's fourth straight attempt to impose one — and $100 million in savings on human services programs. Administration officials say the savings would come from reduced demand for the services because of an increase in the minimum wage to $12 an hour, up from the federal minimum of $7.25. Wolf is also renewing his call for municipalities who use state police to pay extra and he wants funding to put body cameras on troopers. During his budget address, Wolf was in campaign mode and touted his successes over three-plus years. He highlighted increased funding for schools, pension reform, liquor reform, medical marijuana legalization, prison reform, and the opioid fight, as accomplishments. His budget plan does not increase broad-based taxes on Pennsylvanians (i.e. sales or income taxes), and while Republicans were pleased to hear it, they're worried that the proposed spending could lead to tax hikes in the future. Republicans say they'll have to look at where they can try to cut spending in the proposal. Lawmakers have until midnight on June 30 to pass the state budget.

Political

The fight over Pennsylvania's congressional map is intensifying. Last week the Pennsylvania Supreme Court released a new congressional map after weeks of legal and political fighting following its ruling that the map adopted in 2011 was an unconstitutional partisan gerrymander. Top GOP leaders — House Speaker Mike Turzai and Senate President Pro Tempore Joe Scarnati — submitted an emergency request on Wednesday to the US Supreme Court, asking the justices to block implementation of the new district boundaries. Meanwhile, on Thursday eight GOP Congressman, along with state Senate Majority Leader Jake Corman and state Sen. Mike Folmer, chair of the State Government Committee, filed a separate federal challenge to the map. They contend that Pennsylvania's highest court overstepped its authority in drawing new congressional district lines and did not give state lawmakers enough time to produce a map of their own. With five US House seats occupied by Republicans from Pennsylvania up for grabs, Democrats are hoping a new congressional map will boost their efforts to recapture the US House. Congressional candidates have from Feb. 27 to March 20 to collect and submit enough signatures to qualify for the May 15 primary ballot.

The state House of Representatives welcomed a new member. Democrat Austin Davis was sworn in as the state representative for the 35th Legislative District, located in Allegheny County, following a Jan. 23 special election. Davis easily won the heavily Democratic state House district in a special election that was prompted by the Nov. 6 resignation of former Rep. Marc Gergely, D-Allegheny, which was part of the plea deal Gergely agreed to in August when he pleaded guilty to conspiracy and illegal campaign contribution charges stemming from a scheme to place illegal gaming devices in bars and other establishments in western Pennsylvania.

State Senator Daylin Leach (D-Montgomery) has announced he is ending his stalled congressional bid. Leach was the subject of allegations that he behaved inappropriately toward female employees and campaign aides. He announced in December he would "step back" from his campaign after the allegations were published by The Philadelphia Inquirer. Leach's current Senate term expires in 2020.

The list of state lawmakers who have announced they won't be seeking re-election is growing. Not running for re-election in 2018 are: Rep. William Keller (D-Philadelphia), Rep. Mike Hanna (D-Clinton), Rep. John Maher (R-Allegheny), Rep. Joe Markosek (D-Allegheny), Rep. Matthew Baker (R-Tioga), Rep. Mark Mustio (R-Allegheny), Rep. Flo Fabrizio (D-Erie), Rep. Kevin Haggerty (D-Lackawanna), Rep. Adam Harris (R-Juniata), Sen. Stewart Greenleaf (R-Montgomery), Sen. Charles McIlhinney (R-Bucks), Rep. Ron Marsico (R-Dauphin), Rep. Bob Godshall (R-Montgomery), Rep. Kathy Watson (R-Bucks), Rep. Will Tallman (R-Adams), Rep. Harry Lewis (R-Chester), Rep. John Taylor (R-Philadelphia), Rep. Eli Evankovich (R-Westmoreland), and Rep. John McGinnis (R-Blair). Running for a different seat and not seeking re-election are: Rep. Marguerite Quinn (R-Bucks),

Gaming

The Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board announced it will begin accepting license applications on April 2, 2018 for Manufacturers and Suppliers relative to both Interactive Gaming (iGaming) and Truck Stop Video Gaming Terminals (VGTs). Manufacturers who are currently licensed by the Gaming Control Board may submit an Abbreviated Application for a Video Gaming Manufacturer License. The applications are available on the PGCB's web site, gamingcontrolboard.pa.gov.

The owner of the Parx Casino in Bucks County won the rights to build a mini-casino in the Shippensburg area after gaming regulators invalidated Sands Bethlehem's winning mini-casino bid due to location issues. Sands had selected a site in northwestern Pennsylvania that intruded on the 15-mile buffer zone around the location picked by the winner of a previous auction. Greenwood Gaming and Entertainment submitted a winning bid of $8,111,000 to build a casino within 15 miles of a point it picked in South Newton Township, in Cumberland County. The mini-casino can operate between 300 and 750 slot machines. Greenwood Gaming and Entertainment can petition for permission to initially operate up to 30 table games for an additional fee of $2.5 million. Ten additional table games could be added after the first year of operation. A state law enacted last year authorized 10 new mini-casinos.

Health Care

Governor Tom Wolf announced medical marijuana will be available for patients at approved dispensaries beginning February 15. To date, 10 dispensaries and 10 grower/processors have been approved to operate. More than 17,000 patients have registered to participate in the medical marijuana program, with nearly 4,000 certified by a physician. Physicians continue to register to participate in the program. To date, over 700 have registered and of those, over 370 have completed the training to become certified practitioners.

Legislation addressing prescription refills in emergency situations was signed into law by Governor Wolf as Act 8 of 2018. Senate Bill 542 eliminates a life-threatening loophole in the state's emergency prescription refill law. Under current law, in the event of an emergency situation where a patient cannot obtain a doctor's script for the refill of a prescription, a pharmacist could issue a 72-hour supply of that drug. Issues with the law arose, with drugs that are not available in 72-hour supplies, such as insulin, and therefore could not be dispensed to the patient. This situation has resulted in fatalities in other states. With the signing of this legislation, pharmacists are now permitted to dispense up to a 30 day emergency supply as long as certain conditions are met, such as the drug is not available in a 72-hour supply, is not a controlled substance and is essential to maintain life.

Business

Governor Tom Wolf launched the new PA Business One-Stop Shop to serve as a sole source to guide entrepreneurs and small businesses through all stages of development, from planning and startup to operation and expansion. The PA Business One-Stop Shop can be found at business.pa.gov and includes resources for planning a business, registration and permitting, hiring employees, receiving funding and technical assistance, and more.

Transportation

A resolution calling for the study of a potential consolidation of interstate operations of the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation (PennDOT) and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission (Turnpike) was adopted by the state Senate. SR 209, sponsored by Senator John Rafferty (R-Montgomery) and Senate Scott Hutchinson (R-Venango) directs the Joint State Government Commission to examine the challenges and opportunities of consolidating the interstate operations of PennDOT and the Turnpike in a final report with findings of fact, recommendations and any proposed legislative remedies. Currently, both Commonwealth agencies are responsible for the planning, the construction and the maintenance of interstate highways and freeways under the respective jurisdiction of PennDOT or the Turnpike. PennDOT has an annual budget of more than $8 billion in federal and state funds and is responsible for nearly 40,000 miles of highway and 25,400 bridges. The Turnpike is responsible for 552 miles of roadway, 150 bridges, 79 interchange configurations, 27 maintenance facilities and 17 service plazas. It has an operating budget of approximately $360 million, and will have assumed nearly $17 billion in debt by 2022, primarily as a result of $450 million in annual funding contributions to PennDOT required under Act 44 of 2007. The Commission will have 18 months to provide its report to the Senate.

Lobbying Disclosure

Governor signs bill to increase transparency in lobbying. The bill signed into law, introduced by Lancaster County House Republican Bryan Cutler, increases the penalties for missing quarterly filing deadlines, and also will soon require all lobbying disclosure reports to be filed electronically, to speed processing of those reports. Fines for lobbyists who don't file expenditure reports to the Department of State are doubled from $2,000 to $4,000. Daily fines for failing to report are also increased, up to $200 a day after 20 days. The new law also makes the lobbying process more transparent by requiring the Department of State to post all disclosures online within seven days. The new penalties are effective immediately. The electronic filing changes to the law will go into effect in 60 days.

2018 Election Dates: The Primary is scheduled for May 15 and the General Election for November 6

A third or subsequent offense constitutes a felony of the second degree when the offense is a third or subsequent offense, regardless of the value of the secondary metal.

ACT 20-2017 (SB 288) Amends Title 75 (Vehicles) to increase fines and penalties for violators of Pennsylvania's "Steer Clear" law, which requires drivers to slow down and move into a lane not adjacent to an emergency response area, if possible. Emergency responders include police, firefighters, tow truck operators, and highway workers. Drivers who ignore Pennsylvania's "Steer Clear" law will face harsher penalties beginning in September. The new law will maintain a fine of up to $250 for a first offense but sets of a maximum fine of $500 for a second violation. For a third or subsequent offense, drivers would face up to a $1,000 fine, and a 90-day license suspension if a serious injury or death is involved.

A vehicle operated by an engine fueled primarily by compressed or liquefied natural gas may exceed the gross vehicle weight limits imposed under this section by an amount, not to exceed a maximum of 2,000 pounds, that is equal to the difference between the weight of the vehicle attributable to the natural gas tank and fueling system carried by the vehicle and the weight of a comparable diesel tank and fueling system. The annual fee for movement of freight via natural gas vehicles, as provided for in section 4979.7 (relating to permit for movement of freight via natural gas vehicles) shall be $500. An annual permit may be issued authorizing the movement on specified highways of freight as allowed by law by a vehicle powered by natural gas, be it compressed or liquefied, which exceeds the maximum vehicle gross weight specified in section 4941 (relating to maximum gross weight of vehicles). The weight of any vehicle permitted under this section may not exceed 82,000 pounds overall gross weight and 21,000 pounds on any steering axle. On October 1, 2018 new regulations will be in effect codifying the RAC re-review the 2012 and 2015 ICC Model Codes providing a reasonable "catch-up" on six years of codes that have not been adopted in Pennsylvania. Moving forward, all subsequent RAC review and adoption of future Model Code provisions will be delayed by a full three years. The 2018 ICC Model Codes will not be eligible for enactment in Pennsylvania until March of 2022. Other Key Provisions in Act 36 of 2017 include: 1- Increases the UCC permit fee from $4.00 to $4.50 while authorizing the Department of Labor and Industry to contract with the ICC for a "PA Custom Code Book", and 2- Authorizes the City of Philadelphia to propose an ordinance to adopt the 2018 ICC Commercial Codes (one-time jump ahead for Commercial only).

Performance reviews will also be required for all state tax credit programs.

Under the legislation, performance measures must include outcome-based measures, including efficiency measures, activity cost analysis, ratio measures, measures of status improvement of recipient populations, economic outcomes or performance benchmarks against similar state programs or similar programs of other states.

The bill also establishes an independent Performance-Based Budget Board to review the budget plans developed by the IFO and to make recommendations on how each agency's operations and programs may be made more transparent, effective and efficient.

Additionally, under this legislation, facility owners shall maintain existing records of main lines abandoned on or after the effective date and to mark, locate or identify the main lines if possible, based upon the existing records, but shall not be required to locate lines or facilities installed before the effective date unless there are existing maps which meet specifications. It places duties upon facility owners to maintain records of notice to the One Call system, verify where underground utility lines run in certain instances, report violations (Who are the bad actors?), and participate in One Call's member mapping system. $2,500 or less in damage is exempt from reporting unless repeat offender. The opinion or recommendation of an intervenor may not supersede that of the conservator. The court may bifurcate the hearing to first consider whether the property meets the specified conditions and, upon successful demonstration, consider the appointment of a conservator. Conditions for conservatorship may also include the accumulation of garbage or debris, the physical deterioration of the structure presents a hazard, or the vacant lot has received State or municipal code violations for a period of at least three years. Should the owner elect conditional relief, the court may allow the owner to sell the property or remediate the conditions of the property to a standard not lesser in scope than the proposed conservator's plan. The court shall require the owner electing conditional relief under this subsection and intending to sell the property to present to the court for approval a buyer who intends to remediate the blighted conditions within a reasonable time.
